PROCEDURES

TRANSLATING AND INTERPRETING SERVICE (TIS NATIONAL)

- The Translating and Interpreting Service supports non-English speaking people with participating in and understanding the enrolment and orientation process, as well as policies and procedures, or any other correspondence to do with the organisation.
- TIS National is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week for any person or organisation in Australia requiring interpreting services. Phone: 131 450 (24 Hours).

TOURS AND ENQUIRIES

- Our organisation encourages prospective families to visit our services for a tour at any time. No appointment is necessary. However, if a family would like to make an appointment, it can be organised with the nominated supervisor or responsible persons.
- On a service tour, staff will follow these general procedures:
 - Be organised and available at the arranged time, so the family isn't left waiting.
 - Avoid interruptions where possible.
 - Use a warm friendly approach to welcome the family.
 - Use their first names when you speak to them (with correct pronunciation).
 - Interact with everyone on the tour, including fathers and the child themselves.
 - Introduce staff to the family.
 - Discuss the activities and experiences that children will engage in, and how these align with the service philosophy and approved frameworks.
 - Build trust by being warm and friendly.
 - Gently begin to enquire about their family structure, lifestyle, child rearing practices, beliefs and values, and their expectations in relation to the child's time at the service, both during and following enrolment and orientation.
 - Discuss any concerns they may have about their child commencing at the service.
 - Explain the value of orientation visits and encourage families to discuss their preferences for orientation and separation.
 - Show genuine interest and acceptance, answering questions honestly, and taking concerns seriously.
 - Provide an opportunity for the family to ask questions and seek clarification.
- Sending written information prior to the physical meeting, or immediately following the meeting, means that staff won't need to cover every possible topic during the tour. Instead, they can focus on building a relationship with the new family.
- Families will receive a detailed enrolment package and will be advised about any other relevant information regarding the organisation's policies, routines, programs and operational procedures.
- General information can be given in a printed booklet, emailed to families, or published on the service's website. Ideally, this information will also be made available in languages other than English or accessible formats.

- Policies and procedures can be accessed in the following locations:
 - Policy and procedure manual in the service foyer
 - On the service's website
 - On request via email or printed copies
- Families will be provided with a range of information about the service and organisation, including but not limited to:
 - learning frameworks and planning procedures
 - menu and provision of food
 - calendar of events, incursions and extra-curricular activities
 - inclusion and support for additional needs
 - fees and payment procedures
 - policies, procedures and the service philosophy
 - SunSmart requirements
 - signing in and out procedures
 - daily routines
 - staff introductions and qualifications
 - communication
- Families are encouraged to ask questions and seek any further information they require.
- Any matters that are sensitive of nature, such as discussing a child's medical needs, court orders, parenting plans or parenting orders, will be discussed privately with the nominated supervisor or responsible persons.

PRIORITY OF ACCESS

- The Australian Commonwealth Government's Priority of Access Guidelines apply to all early childhood education and care except funded kindergarten places. It sets out three levels of priority, which organisations must follow when filling vacant places when the demand for childcare exceeds supply.
- The priority of access criteria applies to all early childhood education and care except funded kindergarten places.
- The priority of access criteria levels are:
 - Priority one – a child at risk of serious abuse or neglect.
 - Priority two – a child of a sole parent who satisfies, or parents who both satisfy, the activity test through paid employment.
 - Priority three – any other child.
- The Victorian Government has priority of access criteria that apply only to funded kindergarten places. The criteria requires services to give priority of access to children in the following order:
 - Children at risk of abuse or neglect, including children in out-of-home care.
 - Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander children.
 - Asylum seeker and refugee children.
 - Children eligible for the Kindergarten Fee Subsidy.
 - children with additional needs, defined as children who:
 - Require additional assistance in order to fully participate in the kindergarten program.
 - Require a combination of services which are individually planned.
 - Have an identified specific disability or developmental delay.

glenirisccc@bigpond.com
www.glenirischildcare.com.au

- Within these main categories, priority should also be given to the following children:
 - Children from families that include a disabled person.
 - Children from families that include an individual whose adjusted taxable income does not exceed the lower income threshold or whose partner is on income support.
 - Children from families with a non-English-speaking background.
 - Children from socially isolated families.
 - Children of sole parents.
- Where there are insufficient places for eligible children, after prioritising using the criteria above, services must:
 - Work with other local kindergarten services.
 - Contact the regional department office to ensure all eligible children have access to a kindergarten place.
- Under the Priority of Access Guidelines, if there are no vacant places and the service is providing care for a child who is a priority 3, the service may require that child to vacate the place in order to provide a place for a child in priority one or two.
- If a family is using the service as respite care, they may be asked to swap to alternative days, if available, so children from the priority lists can attend. In extreme circumstances, the position may be cancelled.

WAITING LIST

- Where demand for care exceeds the services number of approved places, families will be placed on the waiting list.
- A deposit of one week's fees is required to secure a child's position at the service, excluding if the family is already enrolled.
- When a vacancy occurs, families are notified in booking order and given the opportunity to accept the position offered. If for any reason this vacancy cannot be accepted, the child's name will be moved to the bottom of the waiting list.
- Families are informed of the Priority of Access Guidelines and their position on the waitlist is assessed as to how they are placed within this system.
- Children currently enrolled are given first preference for enrolments in a new year, before the service offers places to families on the waiting list.
- Families on the waiting list should keep in contact with the service regularly to update their care requirements.
- If family circumstances change that would affect priority on the waiting list, the service is to be immediately notified.
- Families already utilising care, but requiring extra days will be placed on an internal waiting list until a position becomes available.
- The service gives priority to children currently enrolled and their siblings.
- Families are asked to inform the service immediately when a place is no longer required on the waiting list. Once notification has been given, that child's details will be removed from the waiting list.

- If an unborn child is placed on the waiting list, the family must advise the service of the expected birth date. It is the responsibility of the parent to inform the service of the name and date of birth of the child within three weeks after their birth.
- On a regular basis, the nominated supervisor or responsible persons will contact families on the waiting list to ascertain whether they still require a place.
- Inclusion on the waiting list does not guarantee a place at the service.

ENROLMENT

- Our service accepts enrolments for children aged between 6 weeks and 6 years of age.
- Enrolments will be accepted providing:
 - The maximum daily attendance does not exceed the licensed capacity of the service.
 - A vacancy is available for the booking and is in accordance with licensing requirements.
 - The adult to child ratio is adequately maintained in each room and throughout the service.
- Upon acceptance of enrolment, families are required to pay a deposit of their first week's fees in advance to secure their child's enrolment. The deposit is held & used for payment for the child's first week of care. Written notification is required two weeks in advance for reduction or cancellation of a booking.
- Families must complete an enrolment form and sign a declaration to acknowledge acceptance of the organisation's terms and conditions. Families will be asked to complete a child profile and pass on any relevant medical information. Families who have a child with a medical or allergic condition will be required to provide an acceptable medical management plan written and signed by a medical practitioner. At no time can a child be left in care without these forms being completed.
- It is strongly recommended that children be enrolled for a minimum of two days a week to ensure continuity of care and programming to best meet the needs of the children. Children generally integrate into the routine of the service in a more positive way and have a more fulfilling childcare experience when this is possible.
- If at any time during the child's time in care, there are changes to the information given at enrolment, it is the family's responsibility to inform the service of these changes, in writing, as soon as practicable.
- The service will periodically request updates of enrolment information, such as immunisations, emergency contact persons, phone numbers, agreed times of attendance, personal details and re-enrolment requirements for the following year, if applicable.
- Should court orders relating to the child be put in place, or change after the initial enrolment, families will be required to notify the service and supply copies.
- Should a child speak English as a second language, the service requests that families provide some key words in the language the child speaks so staff can support the child effectively.
- Resources and funding for additional staff can be acquired through inclusion programs to support the enrolment of children with additional needs.
- Families are required to provide documentation in relation to court orders, medical needs, additional needs and any other individual requirements to the service upon enrolment.

NO JAB, NO PLAY

- No Jab, No Play legislation requires families to provide evidence that their child has received all the vaccines they need. Following enrolment, families are required to keep this evidence up to date with the service.
- The 'No Jab No Play' law applies to all early childhood education and care services in Victoria that provide:
 - long day care
 - kindergarten
 - occasional care
 - Family day care.
- Children should be vaccinated at birth, 2 months (from as early as six weeks), 4, 6, 12 and 18 months of age and 3½-4 years of age.
- All families planning to enrol their child at childcare or kindergarten in Victoria must provide the service with:
 - a current Immunisation History Statement from the Australian Immunisation Register (AIR); AND
 - The statement must show that the child is up to date with all vaccinations that are due for their age, or that they are able to receive.
- An Immunisation History Statement from the AIR is the only type of immunisation record accepted by early childhood and care services for the purposes of confirming enrolment.
- An Immunisation History Statement is a personalised document that shows:
 - If a person is up to date with immunisations recommended for their age.
 - If a person is due, or overdue for immunisations.
 - The date of administration of each immunisation a person has had.
 - Whether that person has a medical exemption to an immunisation/s.
 - If the person is on a catch-up immunisation schedule.
- Families can access their child's Immunisation History Statement by:
 - Signing into their myGov account.
 - Downloading the Express Plus Medicare mobile app.
 - Calling the Australian Immunisation Register (AIR) on 1800 653 809
 - Visiting a Medicare or Services Australia office.
- The service cannot accept:
 - Immunisation documentation from overseas.
 - A letter from a doctor or council.
 - A document indicating "homeopathic immunisation".
 - A statutory declaration from the family.
 - The "green book" child health record.
- Enrolment for the child cannot proceed if:
 - the family does not provide an acceptable immunisation history statement from the Australian Immunisation Register (AIR); and
 - The service has determined that the child is not eligible for the support period.
- Non-English speakers can use the Translating and Interpreting Service (TIS National) to contact the AIR via phone. The National Relay Service is available for people who are deaf or find it difficult to hear on the phone.

- Children immunised overseas must have their immunisation history and records assessed by a GP or local council immunisation service and be offered catch-up vaccinations as required. The GP or local council must then report the overseas administered vaccines to the Australian Immunisation Register (AIR).
- 'Conscientious objection' is not an exemption under the No Jab No Play legislation. 'Homeopathic immunisation' is also not a recognised form of immunisation.
- There is a two-month leeway period, before the first date of attendance, to give families and services certainty about enrolment. It allows time for the enrolment process to be completed before the child begins attending the service.
- Once enrolled, families are required to provide an update of their child's Immunisation History Statement whenever the child receives an immunisation, and keep the service informed of their child's current immunisation status at all times.
- If there is a vaccine-preventable disease outbreak at the service, accurate and current evidence of immunisation is needed to identify children at risk who may need to stay away from the service until it is safe for them to return.
- If a family enquires about the immunisation status of another enrolled child or staff member, the service will not provide this information. Privacy regarding the immunisation status of all enrolled children and staff must always be maintained.
- The immunisation status of enrolled children can only be provided under applicable privacy laws, such as to:
 - a Public Health Officer or authorised officer from the Victorian Department of Health and Human Services or an authorised officer from a local council upon request, e.g., during an outbreak of a vaccine-preventable disease.
 - An authorised officer of the Department of Education and Training.

SUPPORT PERIOD

- The only exception to the No Jab No Play requirement is if the child can enrol under the 16-week support period (previously known as the "grace period").
- The support period is a provision in the No Jab No Play policy that allows some children to be enrolled in early childhood education when they have not provided evidence that they are up to date with their immunisations.
- Children whose families have not provided evidence of their immunisation status, or have provided evidence that states they are not up to date with their immunisations, are eligible for the support period if they:
 - Identify as Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander.
 - Are a refugee or asylum seeker.
 - Are from multiple births of triplets or more.
 - Hold or their parent/guardian holds a healthcare card.
 - Have a parent/guardian who is a pension concession card holder.
 - Are evacuated from their home due to an emergency, e.g., flood or bushfire.
 - Are in the care of an adult who is not their parent due to exceptional circumstances, e.g., parental illness or incapacity.
 - Are in the care of a parent who is a Gold or White Department of Veterans' Affairs card holder.
 - Are involved with child protection services, or have been in the past.
 - Receive support through Family Services, or have in the past.
 - Are living in crisis or emergency accommodation.

- Are being supported by a housing agency or family violence service.
- Families who answer 'yes' to any of the following criteria are eligible for the support period:
 - Are you and your child currently evacuated from your home due to an emergency such as a flood or bushfire?
 - Is your child in the care of an adult who is not the child's parent due to emergency or exceptional circumstances such as parental illness or incapacity?
 - Did your child arrive in Australia as a refugee or asylum seeker?
 - Is child protection involved with your family, or have they been in the past?
 - Has your family received support through family services?
 - Are you living in crisis or emergency accommodation, or are you supported by a housing agency or family violence service?
 - Do you or your child hold a health care card?
 - Do you hold a pensioner concession card?
 - Do you hold a veteran's affairs Gold or White card?
 - Is your child from multiple births of triplets or more?
- Some children may be exempt from the requirement to be fully vaccinated on medical grounds. Examples of valid medical reasons that a child could not be fully vaccinated include, but are not limited to:
 - An anaphylactic reaction to a previous dose of a particular vaccine.
 - An anaphylactic reaction to any vaccine component.
 - Has a disease which lowers immunity, e.g., leukaemia.
 - Is having treatment which lowers immunity, e.g., chemotherapy.
- Families who think their child may require a medical exemption to one or more vaccines should consult their child's general practitioner.

ORIENTATION

- Each family will be involved in an extensive orientation process upon enrolment. A suitable period of orientation is usually two or three sessions.
- Orientation is designed to be relaxed, giving the child and family an opportunity to observe and participate in the new environment.
- The service will be as flexible as possible and will take an individualised approach to children's orientations.
- Orientation sessions go for up to an hour each time and can be scheduled for the morning or afternoon. However, sessions cannot be scheduled during the midday rest period, to ensure the children in attendance are not disturbed.
- Orientation sessions need to be pre-organised with the service before attending so orientation sessions do not overlap with other families.
- Orientation sessions must not go any longer than the one-hour period. When a family leaves the child in the service's care during orientation, if the period is longer than one hour, they will attract a daily fee charge.
- The nominated supervisor or responsible persons will inform staff of the intended time for any orientation visits.
- The service recognises that sometimes families do not have time for a period of orientation due to health, work commitments or other circumstances. Alternative strategies can be organised, e.g., a friend or family member may bring the child in for orientation.

Glen Iris Childcare and Kindergarten

- Staff will meet with the family to get to know them and help settle the child in. Families are welcome to retreat to the foyer for the hour, or can leave the service and return at the end of the hour session. These orientation sessions help to see how the child will handle separation.
- During the orientation period, room staff will invite the family to spend time in the room in order to discuss information including, but not limited to:
 - A general overview of the program, routines, environment and staff in the room.
 - An explanation on how the family can be involved in the program and participate in their child's development.
 - Any questions relating to the child's needs, interests, routines, behaviour, sleep or rest requirements, health, fears, dietary needs, culture, and family values.
- If the child is having difficulty with separation, the family can leave the child for a short period during the orientation visit to go into another room. This reinforces to the child that the family will return.
- When the time comes for separation, families are encouraged to be cheerful and positive, reassure their child that they will return, and refrain from lingering unnecessarily when making farewells.
- Families are encouraged to ring the service at any time to check on their child. Staff will contact families, should their child become distressed or unwell.
- Families are encouraged to provide feedback regarding the service's orientation process.

BOOKINGS

- Booked days are payable regardless of attendance. This includes any days missed due to holidays, illness, Victorian gazetted public holidays or other miscellaneous reasons.
- Two full weeks written notice is required for any reduction of days of attendance.
- Families who have permanent bookings must notify the service immediately of any changes to their bookings. The service will endeavour to accommodate changes.
- The service may be able to cater for occasional bookings in addition to regular booked days. This needs to be requested in writing. If an extra booking is cancelled, it will still be charged, unless at least 24 hours written notice of the cancellation is received.
- A deposit equal to one week's fees is required to confirm a child's enrolment.
- Two weeks written notice of cancellation is required. Fees will continue to be payable until such notice is given. Families need to be aware that failure to attend on the last day of the notice period will result in no Child Care Subsidy forthcoming from Centrelink and full fees will be charged from the child's last day of attendance. Therefore, full fees will be payable during this period.
- Families leaving the service with unpaid fees will incur the cost of a debt collection process. Costs incurred associated with debt recovery will be the responsibility of the family.

CUSTODY ARRANGEMENTS

- Families are responsible for informing the service of custody and access arrangements on enrolment, and immediately if any alterations are made to those arrangements.
- Documentation relating to court orders, parenting orders or parenting plans will be kept with the child's enrolment record.

COMMENCEMENT

- On the child's first day of attendance, staff will welcome the family and the child into the service and the child's new room, ensuring that there is a space ready for the child's belongings.
- Staff will reassure the family and assist with separation, if required.
- Throughout the day, staff will contact the family to let them know how their child is settling.
- Families will be reassured that they can:
 - Leave the child initially for a shorter day, gradually increasing the length of stay each time.
 - Stay with their child for as long as they choose.
 - Call and speak to staff at any time.
 - Contact the service during the day to 'check' in on their child.
 - Request help with separation, if required.
- Staff will ensure information about the child's first day is shared with families.
- Staff will update the family about changes or circumstances which may affect them or their child.

SEPARATION ANXIETY

- Before a child commences, it is recommended that the child and family attend the service to become familiar with staff, daily routines, activities and surroundings. Families are encouraged to attend orientation sessions prior to commencement.
- Families are encouraged to:
 - Provide their child with a comfort item for the settling in period.
 - Spend some time with their child at the service prior to leaving them, to give the child the chance to familiarise themselves with the service while someone familiar is still by their side.
 - Initially only leave the child for short periods – generally 2-3 hours.
 - Leave their child with a staff member – never alone.
 - Tell their child that they will be back, and where possible, align their return with a specific event, e.g., afternoon tea or after work.
 - Always say 'goodbye' – never sneak away. Nothing is more frightening for a child than to turn around and find that their family has disappeared.
 - Try to avoid extending the separation period. Families should leave once they have said 'goodbye'. Repeatedly coming back only serves to upset the child more as they sense their family member's hesitation.
 - Be confident themselves. If families are anxious, they can easily influence a child's feelings.
 - Talk positively about childcare with their child, reassuring them that they will have a good time and will be safe, secure and cared for.
- In almost all situations, children do not remain upset for very long once families have left. Some children do take longer than others to settle in. Families are encouraged to persevere and try to make the experience as positive as possible.
- Staff will always assist children to separate from their families and will distract the child with an activity of interest to them.
- Families are encouraged to contact the service as many times as they like to ask how their child is settling in.

COMMUNICATION

- Staff must work together with families, sharing information about their children, and supporting each family in their parenting.

Glen Iris Childcare and Kindergarten

330-332 Warrigal Road, Glen Iris VIC 3146 – (03) 9889 8396

glenirisccc@bigpond.com
www.glenirischildcare.com.au

- All communication with families is to be respectful and positive. Staff must make families feel welcome and at ease within the service.
- Staff must provide updates in their rooms about each child's day, including experiences provided, food consumed, and periods of rest.
- Staff should share information such as events, routines, current topics of interest, parenting resources, support services, and the educational program with families. This can be done verbally, in writing, or electronically.
- Room staff should conduct any discussion concerning the development of a child privately. If an inexperienced assistant receives a query from a family regarding their child's development, they should refer the parent onto a more senior staff member.
- Families must ensure the service is kept updated about any changes related to caring for their child, such as enrolment updates, following developmental assessments, or changes to health status, dietary requirements, the child's individual routine, or behavioural changes.
- The service must be informed if the following family details change:
 - A parent, guardian, authorised nominee or contact moves house or changes phone number or email address.
 - The parent or guardian wants to add or remove an authorised nominee from collection list.
 - The parent or guardian wants to add or remove a contact who is allowed to collect the child from their collection list.
 - The child has recently had an immunisation.
 - The child has recently been diagnosed with an allergy and/or medical condition.
 - The child has recently been determined as having additional needs.
 - A court order, parenting order or parenting plan has been put in place or the current order or plan has changed.
 - The account holder has new bank account details or has received a new credit card or expiry date.
- Newsletters and email updates are shared regularly to keep families informed of upcoming events, changes in policies, service updates etc.
- Interviews between staff and families in a quiet area can be arranged, to allow time to privately discuss children's progress or any concerns that either party may have.

- As children grow and develop, they require further stimulation and more challenging activities, which shows they are ready for the move to the next room.
- The groundwork for transition is laid early while children are in their current room. Children will only be transitioned when they are ready in all aspects of their development & in accordance with their age. There are basic skills that need to be learned before a move is suitable, so staff take time to ensure each child is fully equipped for the transition with as little disruption as possible.
- Transitions will be tailored for the individual child. In conjunction with families, staff will develop transition plans that are appropriate for each child, and may alter the transition process to support each individual child in their care.
- When children are transitioning between rooms, they will be given several opportunities of 1-2 hours to experience the room they will be moving into and to get to know staff in the new room. The transition itself may take place over a number of weeks. Some children need more time than others, and staff are sensitive to this.

Glen Iris Childcare and Kindergarten

330-332 Warrigal Road, Glen Iris VIC 3146 – (03) 9889 8396

glenirisccc@bigpond.com
www.glenirischildcare.com.au

- Open communication between staff and families will allow for an easier transition into the next age group.
- The week before a child starts their set days in the next room, they will be given at least one full day in that room to ensure they are settled and happy in the new environment. Where possible, staff try to transition children together, so they have a 'moving buddy'.
- The service welcomes families to discuss their child's progress and flag any changes in their child's behaviour or routine during this process.
- When children transition to a new room at the start of a new year, the service ensures families are provided with information and opportunities for the child to become familiar with the new environment and staff prior to the transition.

TRANSITION TO PRIMARY SCHOOL

- Attending school for the first time is a major change for the child and the family. The service recognises that families play a vital role in the success of the transition, and supports and works with families to prepare children for the transition into primary school.
- The service will provide information to families about children's readiness for school.
- Wherever possible, the service provides families with information about primary schools within the local community.
- A transition statement will be completed for every kindergarten child prior to the end of the year. This is a snapshot of each child's knowledge, skills and dispositions for learning and helps support their successful transition to school.

MIXED-AGE GROUPING

- Children are provided with regular opportunities to interact with children of all ages, and throughout all rooms and outdoor spaces. As numbers of children are minimal at opening and closing times, children are grouped together in the one room, regardless of age, until numbers of children and staff increase or the service closes.
- During mixed-age grouping, staff are aware of the age and developmental range of the children. Activities and experiences are provided that are developmentally appropriate for all age groups.
- Mixed-age grouping provides opportunities for younger and older children to learn from each other, with older, more competent children often providing leadership and support to those who are younger and less capable. Children develop skills to effectively engage with children of differing ability levels.
- Mixed-aged grouping also provides siblings, cousins and friends the opportunity to interact with one another.
- It is a non-threatening way for children to start becoming familiar with all staff so that room transitions and staff absences are not so overwhelming.
- If staff from a child's room are not available at the time of arrival, families are encouraged to pass on any comments to the staff on duty. The same will occur in the evenings, where staff on duty will pass messages onto families upon collection.

OPEN DOOR POLICY

- Families may visit their child or contact the service at any time throughout the day to check on their progress and see if they have settled.
- Breastfeeding parents are encouraged to visit during the day to feed their child. The service can provide a quiet space for breastfeeding, if required. Alternatively, the parent can feed in their child's room or a location of their choosing.
- The open-door policy allows families to visit at any time to play or share a story, talent, cultural experience etc. with the children.

FAMILY PARTICIPATION

CHILDREN AND ADULTS WITH DISABILITIES

- Direct discrimination happens when someone with a disability is treated less favourably because of their disability. It can also occur when a person fails to make reasonable adjustments to allow a person with a disability to be treated as favourably as a person without a disability. Some examples include:
 - A child's enrolment not being accepted because of their disability.
 - A child not being invited to participate in an excursion because of their disability.
 - A child's participation in the educational program and/or experiences being limited due to their disability.
 - Preventing a child from attending the service or participating in an activity because of the child's disability.
- Indirect discrimination can occur when a policy or procedure that is the same for everyone has an unfavourable impact on a person with a disability. In particular, it could occur when a child could not participate in an activity because of their disability or would be able to if reasonable adjustments were made. Some examples include:
 - A requirement for children to meet identified developmental milestones before enrolment is accepted.
 - A requirement for all children to be independent in their toileting before they can enrol in a service or in a specific room.
- The organisation will endeavour to make reasonable adjustments to programs, policies, practices, procedures, and/or the environment to enable a person with disability to access and participate in the service on the same basis as others. Examples of reasonable adjustments may include:
